NAME DIRECTORY

THE AMERICAN BAR—including THE CANADIAN BAR and THE INTERNATIONAL BAR—comprises a professional directory of lawyers of the world. Every law office in this directory is annually investigated with regard to character, legal ability, and diligence, through personal interviews and mail questionnaires emanating from our company headquarters. Valuable information obtained from these interviews and questionnaires, both of which are confidential, enables us to maintain the traditional standards accepted by our subscribers as reliable and responsible during our sixty-five consecutive years of publication.

THE AMERICAN BAR legal directory is an independent publication printed and copyrighted annually since 1918, and is not a publication of The American Bar Association, with which it has no publishing affiliation. As the name implies, THE AMERICAN BAR lists lawyers practicing in the United States. It differs from general law lists in that it includes only lawyers and law firms in each city as determined by the above-described annual surveys made among leading firms by representatives of the publishers. Its purpose is to make readily and conveniently available to lawyers and their clients everywhere the names and biographical data of lawyers qualified and situated to perform any legal work required.

Containing concise but complete data for every law office admitted to its pages, it sets forth the nature of the practice, individual biographies of its members, and representative clients. The biographical data, first introduced to lawyers in the initial publication sixty-five years ago, has become a standard requirement for the selection of counsel for important matters.

The Individual Name Directory, an alphabetical index of all listed attorneys, precedes the geographical listing of law offices by state and city.

States, cities, and law firms are listed respectively in alphabetical order.

Selected state administrative offices are included before each state.

State capitals are indicated below state names.

The names of cities and towns are followed by population figures and county names. Asterisks indicate county seat towns.

In many cases bank listings precede lawyer listings for the convenience of lawyers requiring special information about local matters which the banks are qualified to furnish, or those whose clients may have occasion to transact bank or trust department business in connection with legal affairs.

Important towns for which there are no lawyer listings are named in the alphabetical listing for each state, and referrals are made to the nearest logical points.

Lawyers engaged in general practice, those concentrating in one or more of the various fields of law, and patent and trademark attorneys are included in the general sequence.

Patent and trademark agents appear in the listing following the International section.

THE CANADIAN BAR constitutes a professional directory of the lawyers of Canada, selected and included on the same basis as those included in THE AMERICAN BAR.

THE INTERNATIONAL BAR provides a directory of lawyers and law firms in other parts of the world. The names and data of lawyers and solicitors include the departments of law practiced and the courts to which admitted. The years of admission to these courts are used to establish seniority in practice. Each of these offices has been invited to name important international clients as an additional key to the nature of the practice.

To insure the accuracy and reliability of each edition, the standing of every office is subject to annual review as representatives of the publishers travel the United States, Canada, Mexico, and other countries.

We appreciate your mention of THE AMERICAN BAR—THE CANADIAN BAR—THE INTERNATIONAL BAR when forwarding important matters. The introduction is a favorable one and identifies the source of the recommendation, which allocates credit accordingly. Time permitting, please advise us when you send business to a listee office.

If the information contained in the following pages is found to be insufficient, a telephone call, letter, or cable to the publishers will bring such additional information as may be needed. Telephone (612) 871-1395, or toll free (800) 328-5091; cable "Lawyerbook"; or mail inquiries to Reginald Bishop Forster and Associates, Inc., 2344 Nicollet Avenue, Suite 100, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55404.

THE AMERICAN BAR has served the legal profession as a comprehensive source of reference for sixty-five years. Its continuing success is the direct result of the wholehearted cooperation of lawyers everywhere.
